Chapter 231: Expansion of the Divine Convoys

With Sung Jin-Woo’s divine vision stretching across the multiverse, the divine convoys were not only a sign of power, but also a symbol of his expanding influence. The convoys, already monumental in their design and purpose, were now poised to sweep across hundreds of realms, bringing the unifying touch of the God of Shadows and Life to the farthest corners of existence.

---

1. Leadership of the Convoys

At the helm of each divine convoy were the Apostles of God, angelic beings of unparalleled strength, wisdom, and devotion. These beings, born from primordial lights, were chosen to lead the convoys on their missions to spread Sung Jin-Woo’s influence.

Apostles of God: With their six celestial wings, they commanded the convoys with divine authority. Each Apostle led a convoy to a specific realm, overseeing the safety and expansion of Sung Jin-Woo’s domain.

The smaller ships within the convoys were commanded by the Dark Apostles, the first generation born from primordial darkness. These beings, shrouded in darkness, wielded immense power and were perfectly suited to guide the smaller vessels through the most hostile regions of the multiverse.

Dark Apostles: With their two large black wings, they piloted the smaller space-ships within the convoy, ensuring that each vessel operated smoothly and maintained the convoy's integrity.

---

2. The Materialized Shadow Soldiers

Manning the space-planes and serving as the crews of the larger ships were materialized shadow soldiers, entities born from the Shadow Realm. These soldiers, created by Sung Jin-Woo’s divine power, formed the backbone of the divine convoys, offering both skill and strength in their roles.

Shadow Soldiers: These materialized beings, bound to Sung Jin-Woo’s will, took charge of the space-planes, ensuring that every mission was carried out without fail. As the crews of the larger ships, they maintained the ships' functionality and responded to threats with lightning speed.

---

3. Deployment Across the Multiverse

The divine convoys, under the leadership of the Apostles of God and Dark Apostles, ventured to hundreds of realms across the multiverse. Their mission: to bring the influence of Sung Jin-Woo to every corner of existence, ensuring his reign was known throughout the known and unknown realms.

The convoys deployed to the following realms:

1. Shadow Abyss: The convoys secured the borders of the Shadow Abyss, a realm where darkness and chaos had long reigned. Here, the forces of Sung Jin-Woo stood firm, ensuring no intruders disturbed the peace.

2. Infernal Zenith: In this fiery realm, the convoys established footholds, protecting the infernal forces and securing Sung Jin-Woo's domain.

3. Heavenly Soldiers' Domain: The convoys brought new order to the domain of the Heavenly Soldiers, ensuring the continued loyalty of the army of celestial beings.

4. Apostles of God's Domain: The divine convoys reinforced Sung Jin-Woo's Apostles, ensuring the smooth governance of their sacred lands.

5. Dark Apostles' Domain: The convoys ensured that the Dark Apostles remained vigilant, maintaining Sung Jin-Woo's supremacy over this dark realm.

---

4. Expanding to New Realms

As the convoys continued their journey, they spread out further into various realms, covering about a hundred domains across the multiverse. The divine convoys made their way to:

Domain of Elves: The convoys strengthened the alliance with the elves, ensuring their loyalty to Sung Jin-Woo's vision.

Domain of Dwarves: The dwarves, known for their mastery of craftsmanship, joined forces with the convoys, creating new weapons and technologies to aid in the divine cause.

Domain of Goblins: The goblins, though a mischievous race, were brought into the fold, their cunning and resourcefulness making them valuable allies.

Domain of Orcs: The convoys worked to integrate the orcs into the divine structure, bringing their strength and loyalty to Sung Jin-Woo's side.

Domain of Trolls: The trolls, monstrous and resilient, were united under Sung Jin-Woo's banner, ensuring their power was used in the service of his divine purpose.

Domain of Centaur: The centaurs, skilled in battle and revered for their wisdom, were brought into the fold of Sung Jin-Woo's cosmic empire.

Domain of Minotaur: The convoys helped the minotaur race harness their strength, creating powerful warriors loyal to the God of Shadows and Life.

Domain of Celestial Race: The celestial beings, whose power rivaled the gods, now followed Sung Jin-Woo, becoming crucial pillars of his divine order.

Domain of Demon Races: Even the demon races, long known for their defiance, bowed to Sung Jin-Woo’s supremacy, their forces now under his control.

Domain of Beast Folks: The beast folk, a race of primal warriors, pledged their allegiance to Sung Jin-Woo, strengthening his cosmic empire.

Domain of Insects: The insectoid races, once scattered and divided, united under the influence of the divine convoys, their swarms becoming part of Sung Jin-Woo’s vast forces.

And this was only the beginning. The convoys continued to spread, each realm falling under the shadow of Sung Jin-Woo’s divine influence.

---

5. Unification of the Multiverse

Through the actions of these divine convoys, Sung Jin-Woo’s vision for a unified multiverse began to take shape. The realms once divided by war, hatred, and isolation were now interconnected under one rule. The convoys ensured that all beings, regardless of their race or origin, would contribute to the prosperity and peace Sung Jin-Woo envisioned.

The deployment of these divine convoys marked the beginning of a new era—a time when no realm was beyond Sung Jin-Woo’s reach, and his divine influence permeated every corner of existence.